

Relative Change in White Population, 2000 to 2010

This map shows the relative change in the white population from 2000 to 2010 by census tract. The map is shaded by standard deviation and normalized by area: White regions represent average population change (people per square mile), blue regions represent greater-than-average decline and red regions represent greater-than-average growth.

THE PITON FOUNDATION

THE COMMUNITY INVESTMENT DIVISION OF THE GARY-WILLIAMS COMPANY